Back our bid to be the first London Borough of Culture

- Over 2,300 local residents have already signed up to back the bid
- Artist Bob and Roberta Smith kicks off campaign at Garden Party

Waltham Forest became the first borough to launch its bid to be London's first Borough of Culture last weekend.

Artist and Leytonstone resident Bob and Roberta Smith kicked off the 150-day campaign at the fourth annual Walthamstow Garden Party.

Joined by Council Leader Cllr Clare Coghill and Cabinet Member for Arts and Culture Cllr Ashan Khan, Bob and Roberta Smith said, "I'm delighted to back Waltham Forest's bid for Borough of Culture. Waltham Forest understands that it's not just about bringing art to the people; everyone has culture, and art is about voices being heard. This isn't a 'bling' bid; this is a bid that is going to involve everybody."

Cllr Clare Coghill said, "This competition is our opportunity to celebrate everything that is great and unique about Waltham Forest, bringing everyone together to back the bid. We'd love to hear from you so that we can make sure that our bid is totally led by and for the community. We're very confident that our bid can go all the way, so please get involved!"

The London Borough of Culture competition is being run for the first time, and works like similar competitions such as UK City and European Capital of Culture.

Bids will be submitted to the Mayor of London's office on December 1, and the winners will be announced in February 2018. The winning borough will receive £1.1 million in funding to be dedicated to arts and culture programming.

In brief

Stop fly-tipping

A campaign to stop fly-tipping on the Beaumont Estate was supported by residents last month. The campaign highlighted the environmental impact of illegally dumping rubbish in public spaces. Residents were encouraged to report flytipping, and to recycle and upcycle their used goods. During the week flytipped items were displayed along with the cost of their disposal. Residents were surprised to find out how much it costs to remove flytipped goods. Flytipping is illegal, and can attract either a prison sentence or fines of up to £52,000.

Tesco donating surplus food

Highams Park Tesco superstore is offering surplus food for free to charities and community groups in the borough. Fruit and vegetables, bakery products and chilled food are on offer. Tesco's Community Food Connection initiative has already found success in Waltham Forest – 15,863 meals have been donated to local charities including Solid Rock Triumphant Ministry UK and Fountain Drop-in Centre.

Athletes go World Class

Reece Prescod, 100m sprinter and 4x100m relay runner, was one of the ten original recipients of Waltham Forest's Sporting Kangaroo bursary

- Young athletes selected to run for Team GB at world championships
- London's biggest sporting event since the 2012 Olympics

Three Waltham Forest bursary athletes have been selected to compete for Team GB at the IAAF World Championships.

Reece Prescod, Corrinne Humphreys and Bianca Williams have all qualified to run for their country in this year's championships.

Reece Prescod, 100m sprinter and 4x100m relay runner, was one of the ten original recipients of Waltham Forest's Sporting Kangaroo bursary, developed after the 2012 Olympics for talented, local young athletes who need a helping hand to get to the next level.

Corrinne Humphreys, 4x100m relay runner, received one of these scholarships the following year when the scheme was extended. Reece and Bianca Williams, 200m and 4x100m relay runner, received bursaries by a different Waltham Forest scheme in 2016.

Two other local athletes, Laviai

Nielsen and Asha Phillip, have also been selected to represent Team GB.

Reece Prescod said: 'I'm really excited to have been selected to compete at World Championships on behalf of Team GB.'

'I'm training hard so that I can be in my best shape to run for my country.'

'Waltham Forest Council has been a great support throughout my career so far and I want to do the borough proud at the World Championships.'

The IAAF World Championships this year take place in London and will be the city's biggest sporting event since the 2012 Olympics.

Waltham Forest recognised as Living Wage Employer

The Living Wage Foundation has accredited Waltham Forest Council as a Living Wage Employer.

That means that we're paying our staff enough so that they can afford to live in London.

The Living Wage is an hourly rate of pay that is calculated by the Living Wage Commission.

They use a basket of household goods and services to work out the Living Wage, which means the wage is based on what people need to live on.

There is separate rate of pay for those living in the capital – the London Living Wage – where there is a higher cost of living.

Waltham Forest Council has been paying their staff the London Living Wage, £9.75 an hour, since 2011. This accreditation from the Living Wage Foundation's proves that Waltham Forest is an ethical employer.

The Council also works closely with its suppliers to ensure they too pay their staff fairly.

Council Leader Cllr Clare Coghill said: "I'm really proud of achieving this accreditation from the Living Wage Foundation.

"Waltham Forest has always strived to be a good employer, paying rates that mean our team do not just scrape by on their salaries, but can actually have a better quality of life.

"We have committed to maintaining the London Living Wage, and also to work with many of our suppliers to ensure that those people who work for the Council, but at arms-length, also see the benefits of a minimum salary that provides for their needs.

"I would urge all employers; especially those with medium and large workforces to strive for this accreditation and ensure their staff are paid and treated fairly. Research shows that companies that do, have more highly motivated staff and better recruitment and retention rates."

Have a coffee, join in with the conversation

The Council's Coffee and Conversation roadshow has been out and about around Waltham Forest over the past few weeks to find out from residents what they would like from their borough and how the Council can help make it happen.

The roadshow rocked up at the Leyton Carnival on 8 July and the Walthamstow Garden Party on meeting residents and learning more about what matters to them in their neighbourhoods over a cup of coffee supplied by local company Perky Blenders.

Cllr Clare Coghill said: "It's a time of great change across Waltham Forest. We're welcoming new businesses and residents on a daily basis as more and more people see Waltham Forest as a place to live and work.

Council Leader, Cllr Clare Coghill talks to residents at Leyton Carnival

"Please get involved and make your voice heard" – Cllr Clare Coghill

15 – there's no need to worry if you missed it though, as there's still plenty of time to get involved and have your say this summer. See below for details of when the Coffee and Conversation will be out and about around the borough.

Cllr Clare Coghill, the first female leader of Waltham Forest Council, has been accompanying the roadshow on its appearances,

"Along with the opportunities this creates there are some challenges to overcome, including increased traffic levels and higher house prices. The Council has taken steps to address these where possible – but there is much more to do and less money to work with than ever before.

"Please get involved and make your voice heard, either at one of our Coffee and Conversation roadshow events or by taking part online at www.walthamforest.gov.uk/conversation. However you choose to take part, your view matters and is important to help us improve the quality of life for everyone in the borough."

Priorities

Keep the borough clean and safe

- Crackdown on fly-tipping hotspots and prosecute the perpetrators
- Work with the police to reduce anti-social behaviour and knife crime
- Make sure our town centres are vibrant and welcoming

Work to ensure everyone has a decent roof over their head

- Prioritise affordable housing for local people
- Help young people get a decent home in the borough
- Push for more services such as GP surgeries and schools as part of new developments to benefit all residents
- Improve the quality of housing in the borough

Improve our residents' life chances

- Help residents gain the skills that will get them into work
- Improve access to affordable childcare
- Tackle isolation and loneliness in older people

Roadshow dates

You can stop by to see the Coffee and Conversation roadshow at the following events and have your say over a cup of coffee – or even tea, if that's more your thing:

- Sunday 6 August, 2pm – 4pm, Mela, Chestnuts Field, Waltham Forest Town Hall, Forest Road, Walthamstow London E17 4JF
- Saturday 12 August, 1pm – 5pm, Chingfest, Ridgeway Park, Old Church Road, Chingford London E4 6RS
- Sunday 3 September, 12pm – 6pm, Leytonstone Streetfest, Ridgeway Park, Old Church Rd, Chingford London E4 6RS

In brief

Blocks get fire boxes

All high priority Waltham Forest housing blocks have now been fitted with Fire Boxes. These boxes contain information for emergency services in the case of a fire. Building plans and a list of residents who may need extra help in an evacuation are stored inside the boxes. This information will allow the fire brigade to navigate the building even in difficult conditions and ensure that all residents are taken to safety. The boxes are regularly updated with the latest information about the housing block. High priority blocks are also inspected regularly to ensure fire safety standards are met. The final boxes were installed in June.

Transform our Tennis Courts

£250m funding has been made available to transform the country's community tennis courts. Waltham Forest residents are being encouraged to come together to register their interest in receiving funding for their local courts. In the biggest ever UK investment programme for tennis, offered by the Lawn Tennis Association, courts will be easier to book and will ensure rain and darkness do not stop play. Ridgeway Tennis Hub in Chingford has already seen an increase in usage since it benefited from improvements funded by the LTA, Waltham Forest Council and Sport England.

Visitors talk Prevent

A delegation from Los Angeles visited the borough as part of a UK-USA exchange to discuss how to counter violent extremism. The group visited Leytonstone School, to meet the school's pupil parliament for a workshop exploring e-Propaganda and extremism and visited the William Morris Gallery for a professional's roundtable, chaired by Council Leader Cllr Clare Coghill. Representatives from the Police and Los Angeles Mayor's Office shared knowledge with the MET Police Borough Commander and council officers about how to prevent radicalisation and counter all forms of violent extremism, whether extreme right wing or Daesh and Al Qaeda inspired Islamic Fundamentalism.

Central Parade Wins

Central Parade in Walthamstow town centre has won the Mayor's Prize at the New London Architecture Awards 2017. The Creative Hub was selected for best reflecting the Mayor's ambition for 'good growth' in London. The award was open to public choice, meaning that votes cast online decided the winner. Central Parade was created by Waltham Forest Council and architects Gort Scott. The space also received a commendation in a second category at the awards, celebrating meanwhile space in the city.

We Love Our Parks

- Love Parks week celebrated all of Waltham Forest's parks
- Leyton Jubilee Park and Ridgeway Park recognised by Green Flag

The first ever Love Parks week took place last week, with a range of fantastic free events across 17 of Waltham Forest's beautiful green spaces.

Activities ranging from tennis to tai chi were put on for all to enjoy during the celebration of our parks, organised by Keep Britain Tidy. Those who attended were invited to share some of the reasons why they love their park by writing on a special 'I love my park because...' board supplied by Keep Britain Tidy – many thanks to everyone who took part.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: "Love Parks week has been a great opportunity to visit some of Waltham Forest's wonderful parks and enjoy taking part in some super events with the whole family.

"From live music to theatre, from face painting to wildlife workshops, it's been a pleasure seeing so many people take part in the range of activities happening across the borough. Getting out and about in some of the green spaces we are fortunate to be able to enjoy is a great way to spend quality time with friends, family and loved ones in the great outdoors."

There are 25 public parks in Waltham Forest, ranging from wide open spaces to more intimate small parks, offering a wide variety of activities. Attractions include play areas, tree trails, ecology areas and a model railway for children to enjoy. The parks also regularly play host to sports such as football, tennis, cricket and cycling among many more.

There was more good news for Parents and children enjoy Lloyd Park during the Walthamstow Garden Party

our green spaces during the week as it was announced that two area parks would join Lloyd and Aveling Park in being recognised by Green Flag, the national benchmark of quality outdoor places. Leyton Jubilee Park and Ridgeway Park were officially awarded Green Flag status on Tuesday 18 July, bringing the total of recognised parks in the borough to three.

MAKING SURE YOUR STREET IS CLEAN GREEN SAFE LOVED

New measures to make your streets safer

New measures are to be implemented to stop residents from feeling threatened and intimidated on our streets.

Anti-social behaviours like spitting, littering, public urination, street drinking, aggressive begging, nuisance behaviour and verbal abuse of passers-by will be combatted by Public Space

Protection Orders (PSPOs).

Anyone who doesn't comply with the new orders, which come into place in September 2017, could face instant Fixed Penalty Notice of £100 or the prospect of legal action which could result in a fine of up to £1000.

The PSPOs are being implemented as a result of residents' growing concerns about anti-social behaviour. When we consulted with residents, 80 per cent experienced anti-social behaviour in the borough and 77 per cent agreed it was fair to restrict these behaviours in public places.

The PSPOs will also see drivers who stop on zig-zag lines outside schools during certain hours, which endangers school pupils and other road users, hit with fines.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: "It is simply not right that residents and visitors to our high streets and town centres should feel intimidated, threatened or harassed by congregations of street drinkers, aggressive begging and verbal abuse.

"By introducing Public Space Protection Orders we can start to address these concerns and help make our streets and town centres more welcoming for our residents and visitors."

The orders are supported by the local Police. Waltham Forest Borough Commander Richard Tucker said: "Anti-social behaviour can have a serious impact on our communities. Waltham Forest, like many other urban boroughs, suffers from a range of problems like drinking in the streets and parks, aggressive beggars, and on-street harassment.

"Solving some of these issues will take time, but we are committed to working with the council to make life better for our communities, promote the regeneration of our town centres and to keep Waltham Forest safe. These Public Space Protection Orders make it easier to achieve these goals, and they have my support."

The PSPOs will be introduced in the Leytonstone, Cann Hall, Cathall, Grove Green, Leyton, Lea Bridge, Forest, Wood Street, Higham Hill, High Street, Hoe Street, William Morris and Markhouse wards, and parts of the Chapel End, Hale End & Highams Park and Valley wards in September.

In brief

Dead mouse found at Haji's in Leyton

Poor hygiene, butcher fined

The borough's Food Safety Officers had a major victory recently when a butcher on Lea Bridge Road pleaded guilty to extremely low hygiene standards at Thames Magistrates Court and was ordered to pay £10,000 in fines and costs. Haji's in Leyton, owned by Waqar Ahmed, was inspected by Council Officers last November where they found a mouse infestation. There were mice droppings on the shelves, floors and in cardboard boxes used for food displays. Gnawed packaging was found as well as a dead mouse beneath a food display unit. German and Oriental cockroaches were also infesting the shop and rear kitchen.

'Free childcare changed our lives'

- Free childcare available for 3-4 year olds doubling in September
- Residents save thousands with free childcare

Charlie and her daughter Jai have claimed their free childcare hours

Parents in Waltham Forest could save money, earn more and give their child a better education with free childcare.

From September, parents could be eligible to receive up to 30 hours of free childcare.

15 free hours of childcare are already available to working parents in the borough, but the provision for three to four year old children is set to double.

Free early education and childcare is also available for some two year olds, depending on their parents' income.

Not only does the free childcare save parents thousands of pounds on nurseries and playgroups, it also frees up their time. Many parents use their new-found free time to take on more hours at work, earning more for their families.

You can choose where to access a place for your child – it could be a nursery, childminder, pre-school or out-of-school playscheme.

It's easy to find out your eligibility, see what places are available and apply for free childcare online.

Charlie, whose daughter Jai attends Parkside, said: "I found that private nursery schools were really expensive, but my aunt thought that I might be eligible for funding so I applied to the Council and was successful. It instantly made my working life far more flexible.

"Jai is an only child and loves going and playing with other children, it's brought her out of her shell. Since she started her social skills have improved, she's speaking really well, and she can even spell her name and count. She knows about the different colours, can identify animals and they are trying to teach her to ride a bike. They also make sure she gets plenty of fresh fruit each day. Every week she gets a book to take home for me to read to her.

"It's changed our lives."

Councillor Grace Williams, Cabinet Member for Education and Early Years, said:

"We want every parent in the borough to take up their free childcare entitlement – which could be up to 30 hours from September.

"There is a good quality childcare place to suit every child in Waltham Forest – and it's easy to apply online.

"The extra hours each week let parents rethink how much time they spend at work. They might be able to earn more, save more money or give family or friends some respite."

In brief

Walthamstow Village is a finalist in the London in Bloom competition

Walthamstow Village Blooms

Walthamstow Village is representing London as a finalist in the prestigious Britain in Bloom national competition. It is up against 78 Britain in Bloom finalists who want to be crowned the cleanest, greenest and most beautiful Urban Community in the UK. Waltham Forest Neighbourhoods team helped the Village in their entry for London in Bloom. After coming joint second last year, this is the Village's last chance until 2022 to gain a Gold award. The regional London in Bloom judge has already been toured around the Village and the national Britain in Bloom judges will visit on 8 August. Results will be announced on 27 October at the national awards in Llandudno.

Forest Road Consultation

Have your say on potential road works to two junctions on Forest Road. The Council is asking for comment on the proposed changes to "Standard Junction" between Wickford Way and Blackhorse Road and "Bell junction" between Hoe Street and Forest Road. The proposals would reprioritise space to improve access for all road users by widening pavements. This would improve access for pedestrians and cyclists. The proposals also include creating new crossings to help people cross, and introducing cycle tracks and improving the public realm. Consultations close on Friday 28 July.

• To get involved, visit: <https://frproposals.commonplace.is/about> You could also request a hardcopy of the consultation document and questionnaire by emailing enjoy@walthamforest.gov.uk or calling 020 8496 3000.

Are you a 'private' foster carer?

Private fostering is when children or young people under the age of 16 (under 18 if disabled) are cared for by someone who is not their parent or a very close relative, through a private arrangement.

There are many different types of private fostering, for example: someone looking after a close friend's children while the parent is in hospital or children with parents who are working overseas. Even holiday exchanges that last more than 28 days are considered a private fostering arrangement.

If you are involved in private fostering it is your legal duty to tell Waltham Forest Council – by doing so we can offer you and your privately fostered child lots of help and support. Remember, if the arrangement was made by social services it is not private fostering.

Also, if you are not be fostering yourself, but know someone who is, you can help us keep children safe by getting in touch and telling us what you know about a child who is being privately fostered, then we can investigate.

Who is being fostered privately?

- Children and teenagers living apart from their families
- Children with parents working or studying elsewhere in the UK
- Children with parents overseas
- Children on holiday exchanges for longer than 28 days
- Children living with host families while studying in the UK

London Borough of Waltham Forest

Members Allowances scheme

Elected Members (Councillors) of an Authority are entitled under the Members’ Allowances scheme to receive remuneration for the duties they perform. This scheme is set out in the Constitution of the Council.

The scheme is governed by the Local Government & Housing Act, 1989, as amended and the Local Authorities (Members’ Allowances) (England) Regulations, 2003. All Councillors are entitled to a basic allowance to cover their democratic duties. Some Councillors also receive a Special Responsibility Allowance (SRA) reflecting the level of additional duties they undertake (see the table below). Councillors who hold more than one post are only entitled to claim the SRA with the greatest value. In appropriate circumstances, Councillors can claim an allowance towards carers’ costs, travelling and subsistence costs when carrying out certain duties outside the Borough.

“Members Allowances were reduced by 5% and then frozen in 2011 in response to the difficult economic climate facing residents and the financial constraints on Local Government spending. A review in 2015 showed that members allowances were below the recommended levels of the London Council’s Independent Panel on Members’ Allowances which was published in June 2014. Accordingly, in line with the June 2014 Independent Remuneration Panel recommendations, the Council resolved to unfreeze the allowances” and at its Council meeting 25 May 2017 to apply an annual increase equivalent to the NJC increase for officers for 2017/18.

The following table sets out the current rates of Members’ Allowances for the Municipal Year, 2017/18. Also set out are payments made to individual Members in the financial year 2016/17. The 2016/17 figures also reflect that some Councillors had changes of responsibility during the year.

35,000 enjoy Walthamstow Garden Party

35,000 residents came out to enjoy the Walthamstow Garden Party

Last weekend's Walthamstow Garden Party was a huge success, with over 35,000 people visiting Lloyd Park over the weekend, the largest audience in the festival's four year history.

The festival, which was presented by the Barbican and Create in partnership with Waltham Forest Council, involved over 80 local organisations and saw 1,300 people participate, including 450 young people.

Council Leader Cllr Clare Coghill said: "The Garden Party goes from strength to strength each year and is a shining example of arts and culture in London.

"This is why we launched our bid to become the first London Borough of Culture on Saturday. With so much to do and enjoy we are in a strong position to win.

"It was great to talk to so many local people who are proud about where they live and want to get involved in making sure Waltham Forest is on the map."

Louise Jeffreys, Director of Arts at the Barbican said:

"It was wonderful to see thousands of people enjoying the creative wealth that Waltham Forest has to offer. As a Waltham Forest resident myself, witnessing the vibrancy and diversity of the borough was a particular joy, as was seeing world-class music."

The festival had music, theatre, dance and circus and workshops from artists such as Toots and the Maytals, Tinariwen, Layla Rosa, Boy Blue Entertainment, Walthamstow Youth Circus, X7eaven Dance and MovE17.

The emphasis on recycling this year also meant that 46 per cent of the rubbish was recycled or composted, two-thirds more than in previous years.

In brief

Everybody get online

The Assisted Digital Strategy will take a lot of different approaches to help even the most disadvantaged residents get online. This will include self-help sessions, training, accessible digital channels and work with local organisations. The Council is also looking into introducing widespread public WiFi. Councillor Liaquat Ali MBE JP, Cabinet Member for Digital, said:

"Social exclusion and digital exclusion are linked. By helping residents to get online and feel comfortable using technology, they can be encouraged to use virtual social networks and use the internet for other services, reducing exclusion and isolation."

"Many vulnerable people are at risk of becoming excluded from the very services they need, as well as the online choices that could bring them benefits, both socially and economically."

New Mayor backs diversity and life chances

Cllr Yemisi Osho, newly elected Mayor of Waltham Forest

Cllr Yemisi Osho, Waltham Forest's newly elected Mayor, has pledged to serve the whole of Waltham Forest in a way that values and celebrates its diverse cultural communities in her year in post.

"All of my life I've been involved in humanitarian service and worked with diverse communities. I have always tried to bring people together – I started the E17 Pop-Up Kitchen, where I use food to cross cultural barriers and bring different groups closer with a shared passion, but a varied menu! It's not until people meet and talk that they realise they have common issues and goals."

The theme of her Mayoral year is "Service, Courage and Hope". She plans to encourage young people to take an interest in health-related careers. "By working with schools, we can encourage our young people to consider a career in medicine, nursing and other allied health professions."

Cllr Osho is a distinguished nurse practitioner with more than 30 years' service. She qualified as a Registered Midwife in 1984 and worked in Nigeria until coming to England in 1988, qualifying as a Registered General Nurse in 1993.

"The main difference between being a midwife in Nigeria and the UK at the time was that in rural Nigeria, I was the main medical contact for the women I worked with, taking on several roles at once. In the UK I can refer to specialists of all kinds"

In 2012, Cllr Osho was appointed Queen's Nurse by the Queen's Nursing Institute in recognition of her commitment to providing high quality care.

"This was an extremely humble moment for me, but I was elated that my hard work and leadership had been recognised. I've always been driven to be an advocate for my patients and fellow nurses. I've always thought we should treat our patients and colleagues with dignity and respect as we would treat our own family. I've spent a lot of time fighting for the rights of both."

In 2014, she was elected as a councillor representing Lea Bridge Ward. Since then, she has supported and represented residents on various issues relating to healthcare, schools, planning applications and individual personal cases.

The Mayor will be fundraising in conjunction with Diabetes UK to support local diabetic care services and raise awareness of the impact of diabetes on people's health.

"Diabetes cuts across age, race, religion and social background. By tackling it we will have an impact on every corner of our borough. We need to take a holistic approach, starting with education and prevention, to medical care and supporting people to make the changes they need to keep it at bay. If we beat diabetes we would save the Health Services millions!"

Cllr Yemi Osho is married with two sons. Her husband, Olukayode, and younger son, Richard, will act as consorts during her year in office, along with Pastor Birkett Bennett as her spiritual adviser.

Become a Whipps Cross Champion!

do it for...
Frank

Retired businessman, grandad and hero

On separate occasions they've kept me alive and patched me up as good as new! I wish them all the very best of luck with a new hospital, I really mean that.

Pledge your support for a new hospital

Almost 1,000 people have pledged their support for the Council's 'Love Whipps Cross' campaign since its launch last month. They back the Council's plan to transform the hospital into a world-class health and wellbeing campus

Thankfully, most of us are in good health and won't need to visit Whipps Cross Hospital, but we ask everyone for their support, and if they're not pledging support for themselves, we ask our residents 'do it' for others.

If you would like to tell your story and become a champion for the campaign, we would love to hear from you. Perhaps you would like to share the care you received, or continue to receive, or what Whipps Cross means to you? Please get in touch media@walthamforest.gov.uk

Retired businessman, grandad and hero, Frank, has signed up to be a champion. He said: 'I received very good care at Whipps, they were brilliant – I was treated for an emergency recently and they managed to keep me alive!

'I also had a trip there when I received minor injuries going to the aid of someone, and they patched me up like new.

'I'd love to see the hospital redeveloped, but would hope they keep part of the Victorian façade, as they did with the Royal London.

'I wish them all the very best of luck with getting a new hospital – I really mean that.'

The Council is working with Barts Health NHS Trust, clinical commissioners and the North East London Foundation Trust (NELFT) to turn its a joint vision for Whipps Cross into a reality; retaining the best of the hospital, whilst creating a campus that provides the best healthcare moving in to the 21st century – but we need your help and support to make this happen. # Our Borough of Culture Bid

Waltham Forest Culture Tree

Residents tie their wish cards to the culture tree

Hundreds of cards were attached to a Culture Tree to celebrate the launch of Waltham Forest's bid to become London Borough of Culture.

Attendees at the Walthamstow Garden Party filled in the cards to tell us what they think is the borough's cultural highlight and to make a wish for culture in Waltham Forest.

The tree, made in the image of the Waltham Forest logo, had the cards tied on with coloured ribbons.

The tree will be touring around the Borough in the coming months so that more residents can tell us their wishes for culture in Waltham Forest.

Keep a look out on our social media to see where the tree will be going next.

Residents tell us why they are backing the bid

Lucie Gledhill, Walthamstow resident and business owner, right, pictured with Shona French and son Oshen

"I run a jewellery workshop called Made by Ore, we teach jewellery making such as making your own wedding rings. We moved to Walthamstow because rents were affordable, business rates were affordable, but also because there was such a great community vibe."

Belinda Manfo, Waltham Forest resident, aged 9

"I go to the library every Friday, sometimes I go on Saturdays, or Mondays. I really like going there, I love reading books, and it's just really nice. It's Higham Hill library, it's on our road, so all you have to do is walk across the road and then we're in the library!"

"I support Waltham Forest being the first Borough of Culture because it's a great combination of suburban and city life. It's a really great opportunity for creatives to build their networks, and for start-up businesses to get a kickstart."

Consultation

Business Rates Consultation

All commercial properties have been given new rateable values in the valuation list from 1 April 2017. This was carried out by central Government. As a result some businesses saw a significant increase in their rates. To reduce the impact of this, the Government has allocated funding to local authorities to set up discretionary business rates relief schemes.

The funding that Waltham Forest Council has received is not enough to support all businesses affected by revaluation. We are therefore proposing a relief scheme that we believe supports smaller businesses that have experienced the biggest impact, that is an increase of more than 12.5%. A consultation on the proposed scheme is now open. You can find full details and a link to the consultation survey at www.walthamforest.gov.uk/nndr The consultation closes at 5pm on Monday 28 August 2017.
